Headline:
Cloudy wet morning becoming drier in afternoon.

Today:
Mostly cloudy with outbreaks of rain, most persistent and heaviest across Argyll, with local flooding possible, through the morning. Drier conditions edge north through the afternoon with some late brighter spells developing across Ayrshire and Lanarkshire. Occasionally strong southwesterly winds. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Argyll remains mostly cloudy through the evening and overnight with outbreaks of mostly light rain. Elsewhere however it looks largely dry with some clearer spells. Fresh southwesterly winds. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tuesday:
A bright morning for most. However, cloud and outbreaks of rain across northern Argyll edge back south in the afternoon, the rain becoming heavy and persistent again across Argyll. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Outbreaks of rain, with hill snow, on Wednesday morning but becoming drier and brighter from north in afternoon. Thursday and Friday, colder, overnight frosts, but largely dry with sunny spells.
